

Svaroopā[®] Vidya Ashram Residency Application

Thank you for your interest in living in the Ashram! It is a profound way to live, with a lot of laughter and a lot of love, as well as rapid progress toward your spiritual goals.

Ashram residents make a minimum 6 month commitment to residency. Your first three months are a trial period, and include regular meetings with Swami Nirmalananda to help you with any adjustments or personal needs.

As a resident, you take vows as a junior monk (brahmacharya), from which you are released when you move out. Traditionally, brahmacharis wear white or yellow, but avoiding black, dark brown and navy will suffice. Your vows entail five lifestyle choices:

Celibacy (brahmacharya)	with special rules for married couples
Non-greediness (aparigraha)	including (a) limiting your personal possessions, (b) tithing (recommended 10% of your income) to an organization of your choosing, (c) working outside, through either paid work or volunteer work (which is a way of being non-greedy with your time)
Austerity (tapas)	Maintaining the Ashram schedule (attending scheduled programs both in the Ashram and at Downingtown Yoga Meditation Center) Plus maintaining other personal practices according to your need and interest.
Self-Reflection (vichara)	Taking responsibility for your own actions and attitudes Regular vichara sessions (formal and informal sessions)
Service (seva)	Offering your service to the ashram and to your own family. This means you'll do 2 hours of Ashram seva per day, taking care of kitchen, household and garden, like you would at home. It also means you'll remain actively involved with your family members, including spending time with them for important occasions, holidays and other times.

Monthly rent is $1,500 and includes:

Your housing and meals (eaten on-site or pack-your-own-lunch). When retreats are going on, the meals are served at the retreat site. Every resident assists with serving and clean-up for meals.

All Ashram programs and trainings during your residency, except that you must participate in a course in full (no partial enrollments). Professional trainings are not included in your residency, and must be enrolled in and paid in full.
