ENGLISH

Om. Sadaashiva, is seer and source of the reality of this world and the teachings in this mantra, Honored Hymn to the Sadguru.

Verses with diff'rent melodies honor the One who needs no praise, Sadguru, the embodied Self,
is the one to whom I sing.

Ham'sa, breath and bija mantra,
are vital seed and branching flow, Krom is the anchor in this world as a great gift to all mankind

My chanting is for one purpose to receive my own Guru's Grace, that I attain the greatest gift, knowing and being my own Self

Now, meditation.

The Guru, enthroned within me,
between the petals ham and sah,
Causes the world and all beings,
In his way and through his will.

Meditate on the Sadguru, embodied form of consciousness,
knowing, being, illumining, giving me That which is my Self,

My chanting is for the purpose to complete the four goals of life, duty, wealth, pleasure and freedom all fulfilled by my Guru's Grace.

Suuta describes:

On the peak of Mount Kailasa Parvati saw Lord Shiva bow.
Shiva who grants union through love,
Who does he show devotion to?

Parvati bowed and asked her Lord,
The One beyond all names and forms,
Teacher of the whole universe,
“Grant me knowing of the Guru.”

- What path makes an embodied one live in the knowing of their Self?
Lord, bestow Your grace upon me here I am, bowing at Your feet.
- Shiva replied to Her great love,
O my Beloved, You are me.
No one has asked this until now
Your question is a gift to all.
- Listen as I reveal the truth,
Difficult to find in this world,
The Guru is the Absolute,
The One, the All. This is the truth.
- Yogic texts, sacred books and myths, histories, laws and sciences mantra, yantra, magical and mystical tantric treatises
- All of these, without a Guru, even Shiva and Shakti texts, merely bring about the downfall of one with a deluded mind.
- Without knowing of the Guru, they are fools with their rituals, sacred sites, donations, mantras holy vows and austerities.
- Guru and Self are not distinct;
beyond doubt, I repeat this truth.
Thus the wise make effort to find their Guru and attain that state.
- Birth is into not-knowingness, spellbound by Maayaa’s worldly dance.
Giver of the upwelling light of your own Self is called Guru.
- All vices are cleansed from the soul through service to “Srii Guru’s feet, which is how you become the One while embodied, I tell you this.

Sprinkle water on your head and recall your Guru's lotus feet to obtain blessings from all the pilgrimages to holy sites

The water of your Guru's feet dries up the muck of your karmas, lights the lamp of inner knowing,
rescues you from the worldly snares.

To zap the root of not-knowing
Put an end to karmic cycles
Gain independence and knowing Sip the water from Guru's feet.

You've sipped water from Guru's feet
Now eat the food that nourished Him.
Meditate on the Guru's form
Repeat his mantra constantly.

His home is the divine Kashi
The water of His feet – Ganga
He is Kashi's Vishveshwara
Guru is the form of mantra.

The water of his feet — Gaya
He is the holy Akshaya
And Prayaga, where the three merge.
To Him I bow, most sacred site..

Always think of the Guru's form
Repeat His mantra constantly
Follow the Guru's directions
Think only of your Sadguru

The supreme knowingness is found in His words, and obtained by Grace.
Pour your mind toward the Guru like
A wife always thinks of her mate.

Free your mind from the obsession on status, wealth, other's respect, and increasing your well-being.
Think of nothing but the Guru.

Attain the highest state with ease
by thinking only of mySelf.
For this, you must apply yourself to honoring the Sadguru

 Honor and worship the Guru
- Guru — embodied Consciousness
 There is no truth higher than this.
 One who seeks the experience
 Should give all to the Sadguru.
- Practical gifts provide support
 Easing the Guru's daily life.
 Honor and worship the Guru
 Dedicate your whole life to Him.
- Bow to the Guru, full pranams,
 Without holding back anything.
 You must always serve with your mind,
 With your words and with your actions.
- Dedicate all to the Guru body, breath and all your senses.
 Dedicate your relationships, made Divine through your offering
- Don't hold back even your body site of identity and pain, imperfect, and producing waste,
 use it in your service to Him

Guru is the creative force,
 Guru is the sustaining strength,
 Guru brings an end to all things.
 I bow to the Revered Guru.

The Guru is the only cause, the ultimate source and the bridge that carries you across this world.
 Bow to the one with all knowledge.

I bow to the Esteemed Guru whose knowing is a cooling gel opening the eyes of the one who was blinded by not-knowing.

I bow to the Honored Guru
 who is my father and mother, my brother, sister and my God, granting me my Divine birthright

I pranam to the Great Guru by whose being the world exists, whose light illumines the whole world,
 whose bliss sources all happiness.

I bow to the Revered Guru,
 whose existence is the world's source, whose light shines as the sun, and by whose love others are loveable.

I bow to the Honored Guru,
 who illumines all that exists,
 but whom the mind can never know.
 He is beyond the mind's three states.

I bow to the Revered Guru,
 He whose only form is the Truth.
 Knowing Him frees you from seeing the world as full of diff'rences.

Theorizing is not knowing.
 One who knows won't pontificate.
 I salute the Great Guru, whose thinking has no thoughts of "other".

I bow to the Honored Guru,
 who appears to be of this world, though He causes the world to be,
 and plays in the cause and effect

O Dear One, bow your head and heart every day, in the direction where the Great Guru's two feet rest. Give pranams with full devotion.

O Noble One, the wise always offer hands-full of fresh flowers in the direction where they find the Divine Guru residing, infinite knower, free within, eternal witness of all the drama of this universe, with all the beginnings and endings.

I bow my head and heart to the Guru's entire assemblage: comprised of the three past Gurus also the Divine Ganesha, plus coalescing energies, Divine powers, the great Masters, sacred art and movements, and the forces of Divine protection, and the power of sacred sounds ordered in a Divine sequence, also the King of Mantras that guarantees you the ultimate.

There is no reason to practice hundreds of windy yogic breaths, difficult pranayamas which bring the latent diseases up. No reason to practice all the many yogic exercises, poses and purifications, painful and so hard to master. Always serve only one Guru and attain the state easily where your breath suspends on its own in the timelessness of your Self

- His gaze is the central support of the theater of this world, showers nectar with compassion, contains all cosmic principles.
- It creates yogic discipline,
His glance is sat-cid-aananda:
beingness, awareness and bliss, pure delight of Self-Knowingness
- By the intellect, bright like flame.
I’ve assessed the Guru Gita.
It is the greatest of mantras, purified like gold in the fire.
- The Guru principle both moves and moves not. It is far and near.
It is inside of ev’rything,
and also outside ev’rything.
- The Guru knows: I am unborn, undecaying, no start or end, unchanging, consciousness and bliss, smaller than small, greater than great.
- I am beyond the primeval, everlasting, self-luminous, taintless, pure, vast space, unmoving, blissful and imperishable.
- You must decide the Guru’s worth by the four sources of knowledge:
the Vedas, sacred histories, your inspection and inference.
- O one of great intelligence, seeing your newfound reverence,

The Guru is the sourceless source,
He is the One Reality,
There is nothing higher than Him
I bow to the Revered Guru.

Blessings from sacred baths in all waters unto the seven seas are obtained from one-thousandth part of a water drop from His feet,

He saves you from Hari’s* anger,
but if you anger the Guru, none can save you; so make effort to take refuge in Shrii Guru.

*Hari is also lovingly called Narayana and Vi.s.nu. The karmas you created in prior lives are being referred to here.

Truly, the Guru holds the whole,
even Brahma, Vishnu, “Siva.
None is higher than the Guru;
Thus you offer puja to Him.

Knowledge and wisdom are obtained through devotion to the Guru.
Nothing surpasses “Srii Guru.
On this path, meditate on Him.

Nothing higher than Him exists.
Per the Vedas, “Not this, not this”,*
Beyond doubt, use your mind and speech.
To always honor Shrii Guru.

*Literally “neti neti”, meaning the supreme is not found in any single thing, so there is no need to pursue anything in the world.

Empowered by Srii Guru’s Grace, Brahma creates, Vi.s.nu sustains, “Siva brings an end to all things.
All accomplished by serving Him.

Even gods and the celestials, the sages and departed ones, don’t fully understand how to truly serve the Revered Guru.
